Long Beach Parks, Recreation and Marine

FROM THE DIRECTOR

By Elvira Hallinan
Manager of Marinas and Beaches

Wow! Summer weather in January, hope you had time for a little cruising. Great start to a new year.

The construction of Docks 6, 7, 8 and 9 in Basin 2 is on schedule.

By the time you read this, pile driving should be complete for future Docks 6 and 7; estimated completion date for the remaining portion is mid-February. Floats have been arriving since mid-December from Dixon, California. Once in the water, floats are assembled at Gangway #34 into long main walk dock sections. After the piles are in place these sections will be floated across the channel to Basin 2 for final assembly and installation, completion is scheduled for June 2015.

You've probably already heard, but just in case the Department of Boating and Waterways approved a $16.9 million loan for the completion of Basin 2. On February 17, 2015, we will request that City Council appropriate these funds and authorize an amendment to the contract with Bellingham Marine Industries, Inc., for the demo, dredging and reconstruction of the remaining docks in Basin 2. In an effort to dredge Basin 2 and a small portion of Basin 3 within our dredging permit deadline, staff is working on a relocation plan. It is our hope that we can relocate all the vessels in Basin 2 within Alamitos Bay, Shoreline and Rainbow Marinas. We ask for your patience and assistance with this monumental task. It is also our hope that this effort on everyone's part will result in construction savings. We will have more information in the March newsletter. Change is upon us.

2015 Welcomes NEW LAWS

With the beginning of 2015, we welcomed in some new marine-related laws regarding vessel operations and fishing. The new law attracting the most attention toward the end of the legislative session in Sacramento was Senate Bill 941, which would require anyone operating a boat to complete a vessel operator course. Also, Senate Bill 1162 changes the classification of some misdemeanors to infractions. Other governmental agencies approved measures impacting recreational anglers.

Below are the specific provisions of new laws and regulations:

SB 941 requires recreational boaters to pass an approved boating education course and obtain a Vessel Operator Card in order to operate a motorized boat. This bill was signed into law in September 2014. The law became effective January 1, 2015. Until January 1, 2018, California's Division of Boating and Waterways (Cal Boating) must develop a vessel operator education program that applies to operators of engine-propelled vessels. Once the program is completely developed by 2018, the requirement to pass an exam and obtain a Vessel Operator Card would be in full effect within eight years. In addition to developing regulations, Cal Boating would also be allowed to establish a fee for the operator card. The law also creates a "Vessel Operator Certification Account" to help pay for developing and implementing a program to educate and certify boaters. Beginning April 2019, the state will be required to conduct annual reporting to determine whether new boater education has had the needed impact on reducing vessel accidents.

SB 1162 reclassifies several boating-related violations as infractions instead of misdemeanors. Going into effect January 1, 2015, three specific violations became infractions instead of misdemeanors:

- mooring a boat to a beacon or buoy that is not designated for mooring

- exceeding the 5 miles-per-hour speed limit when within 200 feet of a marina

- towing a water skier without a spotter

LIVE FRESHWATER BAIT FISH LICENSE FOR RETAIL LIVE BAIT OUTLETS: The California Code of Regulations was amended to require all live bait outlets to issue a live freshwater bait fish license when specifically selling live freshwater fin fish and crayfish for use in inland waters.

RECREATIONAL PACIFIC HALIBUT ALLOCATION

INCREASE: According to the Pacific Fishery Management Council, the allocation for California's recreational halibut fishery will increase from 1 to 4 percent of its non-tribal allocation. To balance the increase along California's coast, the states of Oregon and Washington would have to reduce their respective allocations of 1 percent each in the recreational and commercial sectors. In order to do this, recreational fishery will be tracked and managed to ensure California remains within its approved allocation. The recreational season structure of the California Pacific halibut fishery will be determined based on a catch projection methods developed by California Department of Fish and Wildlife staff, and specific season dates will be developed.

PACIFIC BLUEFIN TUNA MANAGEMENT: Fishing for bluefin tuna in the Pacific Ocean will become more restrictive in 2015, as regulators drastically reduce the number of bluefin tuna anglers can catch in a day. The Pacific Fishery Management Council instigated a 2-fish-per-angler-per-day limit on this fish species found between Japan and the western United States. The previous daily limit was 10 fish. The catch limit was adopted for 2015 and 2016 in response to the waning bluefin tuna population.

With all these new regulations and laws, there is a lot of changes to remember with the new year. Stay tuned for updates!
